

BILLY HAINES CABINETS WITH TEXTURED TOPS, KIRK DOUGLAS ESTATE

$18,000
pair

These Billy Haines cabinets, most likely bedside, with textured tops, from the estate of Kirk and Anne Douglas, exemplify the refined elegance and understated modernism of 1950s Hollywood design. These Billy Haines cabinets with textured tops, perfectly captures their distinctive aesthetic. Each table features a sculptural cream lacquered body with an inset door that opens downward on brass hardware, revealing functional interior storage. The standout element is the finely grained, crosshatched textured top—subtle yet tactile—adding depth and visual interest to the minimalist form.

Designed by legendary interior decorator and former actor William "Billy" Haines, these pieces reflect his sophisticated eye and bespoke design sensibility. Sourced directly from the personal collection of Kirk and Anne Douglas, they carry a notable provenance. These rare cabinets are ideal on either side of a bed or perhaps a sofa or chairs in classic, Hollywood, or contemporary interiors.
