Gorgeous neoclassical table with original finish, originally used as the card table and for extra dinner guests, custom designed by William Haines for the Palm Springs home of Jack L. Warner. The interesting top, with original geometric design, sits atop a concrete urn with original painted verdigris patina. The original servant call button is still underneath the inside lip of the table. Originally fixed to the floor, we have modified the table to be used anywhere. We have full provenance for the piece, as well as photos of the piece in the Warner Palm Springs estate.
