

PORCELAIN "ARIADNE RIDING A PANTHER", AFTER JOHANN HEINRICH VON DANNECKER

$850	An exquisite porcelain figural sculpture depicting a nude woman with Classical Greco / Roman features reclining atop of a panther. The woman flaunts an intricate updo that was very popular amongst the Roman women. The panther sports a leash that suggest the tamed nature of the animal. It is modeled after the work of Johann Heinrich Von Dannecker. There is a blue crossed sword mark used by Meisen but this look suspicious.	1870s	Dimensions Height: 12.5" Width: 11" Depth: 4.5"	Materials Porcelain
