TRAVERTINE, BRASS & WALNUT COCKTAIL TABLE BY BAKER FURNITURE

$4,500	A striking example of refined Mid-Century American design, this cocktail table by Baker Furniture dates to the 1950s and showcases a harmonious blend of travertine, walnut, and brass. The top is composed of sculptural travertine slabs arranged in a rhythmic, slatted pattern that emphasizes linearity and texture. Warm walnut framing supports the stone top and forms the table's distinctive U-shaped legs, joined subtly by brass hardware or accents (hidden or internal), lending both contrast and strength. This travertine, brass, and walnut cocktail table exemplifies Baker Furniture's commitment to quality materials and understated elegance during the mid-20th century. Ideal for both modern and traditional interiors, it's a versatile centerpiece with enduring architectural appeal. The combination of earthy stone and rich wood tones makes this table a timeless addition to any collector's or designer's space.	1950s	Dimensions Height: 16"H Width: 72"W Depth: 22"D	Materials Travertine, Brass, Walnut
